ST. PETER'S 50TH ANNIVERSARY

Downing Church to Celebrate, Beginning Sunday Evening, in Fitting Manner—Will Burn Mortgage Tuesday.

The celebration of the fiftieth anniversary marking the dedication of St. Peter's Church, at the corner of Wurts and Pierpont streets, will be opened in a worthy manner on Sunday evening, November 20, at 7:30 o'clock, with solemn benediction by the Right Rev. John J. Dunn, D. D., new consecrated auxiliary bishop of New York. The sermon will be preached by the Very Rev. John J. Hickey, V. F.

The civic celebration in which the burning of the mortgage will be featured will be held on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock at St. Peter's Hall. An interesting program of songs, monologues and speeches by distinguished visitors has been prepared, while dancing and refreshments will complete the evening's enjoyment. The jubilee celebration, however, will center in the solemn high Mass of thanksgiving to be sung on Thursday morning, November 24, at 10:30 o'clock. The celebrant will be the Rev. John P. Neuman, the pastor of St. Peter's, assisted by visiting pastors, as deacon and subdeacon. The sermon on this memorable occasion will be preached by the Rev. Joseph F. Rummel, D. D., formerly pastor of the church. A large number of visiting clergy will be present in the sanctuary, and the Right Rev. Monsignor Gallus Brader will preside. Following the Mass, solemn benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament will be given and in conclusion the Te Deum will be chanted, which shall come from the depths of the hearts of a congregation sincerely grateful to God.

The celebration will close with a solemn requiem for the deceased priests and people of the parish on Friday morning. St. Peter's choir has prepared an exceptional musical program for the event, under the able direction of Prof. John Schwabach. The details in event and procedure will be announced later.

HERBERT'S CAR STOLEN FRIDAY

He Had Left It Parked on North Front Street—While Attending Movies—Found Upon on Glenclere Hill by State Troopers—Police Investigating.

Friday evening Joseph M. Herbert and his family attended the movies uptown and Mr. Herbert parked his car on North Front street, near Wall street. After the performance when he went for his car, a Peerless sedan, he found it missing, and reported the theft to police headquarters.

Joseph Forman of Main street, who had seen an overturned car on Glenclere hill while driving in from Saugerties, reported it to the police, and when told of the missing car said that the one he saw appeared to be the stolen car.

Chief of Police J. Allan Wood and Officer Burger went to the scene in the police car, and Jacob Tremper of Albany avenue, a friend of Mr. Herbert, had a wrecking crew go out to bring the car in. When they reached the scene they found that the car was gone. There was evidence that an accident had occurred at the Glenclere hill but no one was seen in the vicinity. Chief Wood pursued the investigation as far as Saugerties, where he found that state troopers had seen the up-set car, had righted it and driven it to Saugerties under its own power. It was turned over to the chief and was brought to Kingston by Clark Snyder of the Eagle Garage. When the car was found the speedometer showed that it had been running at a speed of 60 miles an hour at the time it upset.

No trace of any one injured in the upset could be found, but the police are conducting an investigation.

WANT WIRE SERVICE

Western Union Said To Have Discussed Mountain Line.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Albany, Nov. 19.—The public service commission yesterday directed the Western Union Telegraph Company to show cause before it in Albany on Tuesday, November 22, at 2 p. m. why the telegraph company should not be directed to restore telegraph service to Stamford and other points along the line of the Water & Delaware Railroad. It is alleged that the company discontinued service on November 1, having removed all poles along the railroad without telegraph service.

Thanksgiving and the Red Cross. In anticipation of Thanksgiving day, the Rev. Dr. Bernard H. Kaplan spoke Friday night at the benefit evening service at Temple Beth Shalom on the origin and meaning of Thanksgiving. Dr. Kaplan said that the Pilgrims took their inspiration from the Bible. The festival was observed at one time in the colonies a whole week and at the Jews in old times observed it. The Rabbi, Dr. Kaplan, asked the worshippers to remember the roll call of the Red Cross, the most important organization in the world, which knows no creed, no race, but God and humanity.

Father Francis extends a most cordial invitation to all who may wish to be present at these ceremonies of the silver jubilee, which is arranged as the public thanksgiving to God for all the graces and blessings bestowed on the parish during the 25 years of its existence, and as a time of rejoicing to the faithful parishioners and their good friends.

The function, unique in its character, will be one of the great celebrations of the parish and the Roman Catholic Church.

On Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock the Jubilee Minstrel will take place at the parochial school hall, at which also many of the clergy will be present. Balloons and orchestra will play for dancing from 8 to 1.

A souvenir book of the silver jubilee of the parish is printed and ready for distribution to all concerned.

During the summer the entire home was renovated and the floor of the dance hall put in first class condition and it is expected the usual large crowd will attend. Although this year New Year's Eve falls on Saturday, the Elks are planning to hold their New Year's Eve dance on usual. Dancing, of course, will stop at midnight, but up to that time entertainment and sociability will be presented which it is expected will compensate for the early closing.

The police board met Friday evening at the city hall and appointed Elmer Shumaker of No. 22 Boulevard a policeman to fill one of the vacancies on the force. The new policeman is employed by the Kingston Coal Company as a driver of one of the delivery wagons. Mr. Shumaker was on the list submitted by the civil service board at the last examination held.

The civil service board was to have another examination Thursday evening but only three applicants showed up, and two of them were under the required height. This leaves one vacancy on the police force to be filled later.

Connolly's store, at the corner of Broadway and Newkirk avenue, this morning at 11:45 o'clock and went headlong through the large plate glass window. He fortunately escaped with cuts and bruises on both hands. The glass window was totally destroyed and the glass scattered in all directions. The motorcycle was not damaged.

B. P. W. HELD A BUSY SESSION

At Regular Monthly Session Friday Afternoon—Concrete Roadway on West Strand—New Lights to Be Installed—Other Matters.

M. Beharford, resident engineer of Terry & Tench on the Rondout creek bridge, and State Engineer Joyce were present at the regular monthly meeting of the board of public works Friday afternoon at the city hall. Mr. Beharford stated that the last big item in the construction of the bridge was the rebuilding of the big pier, and asked permission to substitute concrete for granite. He said the bridge builders had obtained the consent of the state highway department to make the substitution. His request was granted provided they complied with the New York state specifications which was agreed to.

A petition from residents of West Chester street was read asking that West Chester street from Montrose avenue a distance of 200 feet be graded and that a necessary ordinance be established for the grading, guttering and curbing. It was referred to City Engineer Codwise to prepare the ordinance.

City Engineer Codwise submitted ordinances for the grading of Boulder avenue and Derrenbacher street, and also an ordinance for the construction of a sewer in a portion of Derrenbacher street, which were adopted.

Christian Melbert offered the city the sewer on Farrelly street that had been constructed by a Mr. Austin, a former property owner there. The offer was referred to the city engineer and Superintendent Van Kesteren.

Leuter Loetz applied for permission to open 261 Broadway for Margaret J. Delaney to renew water service. It was referred to the superintendent.

Frank Myers applied to open Albany avenue for the purpose of installing water and sewer for Frank Rosen, which was referred to Superintendent Van Kesteren.

The same action was taken in the request of the Loughran Company to open 106 Franklin street. The board decided to install an arc light on the northern side of Main street, between Green street and Washington avenue, and direct the two incandescent lights now there. An arc light will also be installed on Hudson street, near the corner, and incandescent light discontinued. The board passed a resolution regarding the parking ordinance which prohibited the parking of cars on the northern side of City Front street, between Fair and Clinton avenues, and also on Railroad avenue on the southern side of the street, fifty feet north of Thomas street. The board then adjourned.

With the approval of Dr. Thomas L. Burke, health officer of Newburgh, J. L. Nicholas, Pied Piper of Hamelin up-to-date, will begin a campaign in Newburgh on Monday for the purpose of banishing the rats of the city. It is estimated that there are at least 60,000 rats there. As a rat will eat at least $1.50 worth annually of the cost soon mounts up. The rat is also responsible for the spreading of unpleasant diseases. Infantile paralysis is the latest one. Barium chloride which is the basis of paint will kill the rats according to Mr. Nicholas. It causes stomach sickness and other animals get relief by vomiting. A rat can't do that. This poison is both tasteless and colorless, and can be bought in any drug store.

Wm. VanHorn's Prize. William VanHorn of the Advance restaurant, Wall street, received today a fine Victrola for being the winner in a contest held by the United Commercial Travelers of Newburgh at their fair held recently. Seth Jocelyn of the sheriff's office has agreed to furnish all the records for the Victrola if it be placed in his rooms at the court house.

The executive council of the Retail Group of the Chamber of Commerce at a meeting Friday night voted for a closing of the city's stores at 1 p. m. on November 29 in conformity with the half holiday in conjunction with the ceremonies attendant on the formal opening of the Rondout Creek Bridge.

AUTOMOTIVE MEN TO SUPPLY CARS

Cannot Parade for Bridge Celebration Because They Have Offered Their Cars for the Use of Others.

The Kingston Automotive Association held a business and social meeting at Peasner's Friday evening, the principal business discussed being a good dinner. Mr. Dunkle, of the Motor Truck Association of America, made up of owners of motor trucks who have organized for self protection, made an address on the subject of attempts to legislate against the interests of automobile and truck owners.

Invitations to take part in the parade in celebration of the opening of the Rondout Creek Bridge and to attend the luncheon (at $2 each) were received. It was decided not to take part in the parade as an organization but to offer the use of cars to the committee, as 100 cars will be needed for carrying Civil War veterans and other aged persons.

The matter of a clearing house for the sale of used cars was discussed at length and plans were made for certain features of the automobile show to be held next spring.

WOOD MARSHAL OF BRIDGE PARADE

Will Consist of Five Divisions and Organizations That Will March Should Send in Entries to Secure Places.

Details for the parade to be held in connection with the opening of the Rondout creek bridge on Tuesday, November 29, were worked out Friday evening at a meeting of the parade committee, Captain Everett Fowler, chairman.

Chief J. Allan Wood has been named grand marshal of the parade, which will be composed of five divisions. The parade committee desires that every organization which expects to participate in the parade respond as soon as possible so that a place may be reserved in the line.

The parade will form at 1:30 o'clock at the corner of Broadway and Pine Grove avenue and will start promptly at 2 o'clock, marching down Broadway past the reviewing stand at the city hall where Governor Miller, city and county officials and the invited guests will review the parade. The line of march will be down Broadway to Wurts street to Abel street.

At the corner of Wurts and Union streets the parade will be halted and Governor Miller and those who will review the parade from the city hall stand will take their place in the line and proceed to the bridge where the ceremonies will be held.

The parade formation as planned by the committee last night will be as follows:

First Division.
Military organizations.
Second Division.

Citizens of Kingston.

Fourth Division.

The committee in charge of the parade is planning to make it one of the most imposing and representative possible. One of the divisions which will attract the attention and commend of people will be the division in which the old men of the city and county will participate. This division will be in charge of Levi Ruchbach and will include all the men over 80 years of age.

Further details of the parade will be worked out by the committee and announced as soon as completed.

Wedded Quarter of Century. A very pleasant evening was spent on October 24 when Mr. and Mrs. William H. Van Dyke of 20 Via Huron street celebrated their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. They received many beautiful presents, among which were a large bouquet of chrysanthemums from E. C. Johnson, also one from T. B. Mowbray. Dainty refreshments were served by their father, Augustus Fitzgerald, after which the guests departed voting Mr. and Mrs. Van Dyke royal entertainers.

CREEK BRIDGE IS ABOUT BUILT

It will be 99 Per Cent Completed on November 29, When Bridge Opening Ceremonies Will be Held—Completed About First of Year.

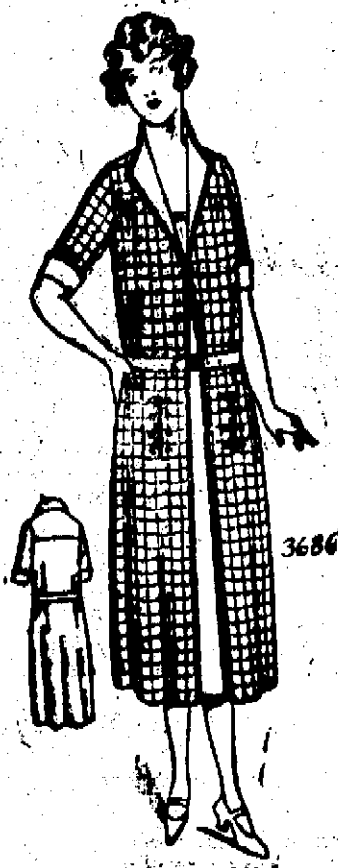

The Rondout creek bridge will be 99 per cent completed on Nov. 29, according to Superintendent Arthur J. Spooner, of Terry & Tensch, who has charge of the construction of the big bridge. The bridge will not be entirely completed, however, until about the first of the year.

Today the work of building the concrete sidewalks on the Abbot street entrance to the bridge was under way. The sidewalk railing is also being installed, and will be completed before the day of the celebration. Painting the bridge gray is also progressing.

All of the steel used in the bridge, with the exception of the cables and suspenders, was fabricated by the American Bridge Company at Elmira, N. Y., and Ambridge, Pa. The two big cables and the suspenders were fabricated by John A. Roebling of Trenton, N. J.

Plans for the big celebration on Tuesday, November 29, are progressing, and it promises to be one of the biggest events in the city's history. Acceptances are being received by the parade committee from the various fire companies of the city who will turn out and march in the parade. Other organizations are also expected to be represented in the line of march.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

A Smart and Popular Dress Style. Pattern 3686 was used to make this stylish "One-Piece" Dress. It is cut in 6 sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure. A 38 inch size will require 4 1/2 yards of 42 inch material. For panel, collar and cuffs of contrasting material 1 1/2 yards is required.

Checked or plaid suiting would be attractive for this style with facings of plain material in a matched shade. It is good for gingham, linen, serge, taffeta, tricot, crepe, cotton crepe, and broadcloth. The width of the skirt at the foot is 34 inches.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 15 cents in coin or stamps by The Freeman, Pattern Department, 100 N. Y. Be sure to state wanted.

Catalogue Notice.

Send 15c in coin or stamps for our up-to-date fall and winter 1921 catalogue, containing 550 designs of Ladies', Misses' and Children's Patterns, a concise and comprehensive article on dressmaking, also some points for the needle (illustrating 30 of the various, simple stitches), all valuable hints to the home dressmaker.

KINGSTON, N. Y., NOV. 19, 1921.

One of the most appropriate sentences in the prayer of Dr. Abernethy at the opening of the armaments conference was: "Help us to think less often of our rights and more often of our duties and responsibilities."

Doubtless there are Americans who will envy ex-Empress Charles his prospect of exile in Madeira. This green island of the Portuguese Canaries not only has a delightful climate but its chief industry is the making of a choice wine from a mixture of black and white grapes.

Of all the American soldiers killed in France only 3,089, or a little over 2 per cent, remained unidentified. How many of these latter were scattered to the winds of heaven by high explosives and could not even be buried under nameless white crosses has not been stated, but they also are listed among the "missing."

If Calhoun had known that South Carolina was to be represented by a Cole Blease, and if Alexander H. Stephens had known that Georgia was to be represented by a "Tom" Watson, they might have had a little less state pride and perhaps been a trifle less devoted to the state sovereignty principle.

Corn at 22 cents a bushel is as cheap fuel as coal at $16 a ton, according to Secretary Wallace, who expects large quantities of corn to be burned on western farms this winter. It is stated that in Argentina corn is being burned not only on farms but in power plants. Petrograd and Vienna will think it is a great pity.

Long-troubled Mexico must be well along the road to peace, for there are now reported ten first-class baseball diamonds in the capital city, two leagues and several independent clubs. Other Spanish-Americans are getting fond of the game, too. In Havana, for example, baseball has practically knocked out the bull fight in the matter of popularity.

When Shakespeare, as a part of his poetic fancy in "Midsummer Night's Dream," caused Puck to "put a girdle round the earth in forty minutes" he little dreamed that a day would come when a wireless message from a president of the United States would be heard by the heads of 22 governments almost at the same instant before it returned in seven seconds from its circuit of the globe.

The freak art of the day is pretty well summed up by the Philadelphia Public Ledger when, after a reference to "the crimes committed in the name of free verse," it says: "Certain members of the mutual-admiration society breaking into print nowadays think it stupidly Victorian to wait for an idea before evolving verses. Many a modern composer of music holds that it is horribly vulgar to be melodious; and some painters consider that they would be disgraced if they turned out a painting that was beautiful."

PURIFYING POLITICS.

Depicting the re-election of Mayor Hylan, the New York Times asks: "What about the woman vote—the vote from which so much in the way of purifying and elevating politics was promised in the days when woman suffrage was an issue instead of a fact—the vote from which so much was expected by those who yearned and hoped to substitute good government for bad, knowledge for ignorance, courtesy for vulgarity? The women of New York had it in their power to defeat Mayor Hylan, and the Times wants to know 'why they did not do it.' Why it was that the women voters 'justified not one prophecy of their friends and refused not one made by their enemies' in the days when woman suffrage was both urgent and opposed. The Times does not find an answer, merely concluding from election results that 'women as women in politics is a negligible element' and therefore 'no special arguments need be addressed to her.'"

The Times can hardly be serious when it asks such questions. No reflecting observer has ever failed to find an abundance of the suggestion that the women voters would over present anything like a solid front on any public question whatsoever. Many women, like many men, might wish to "purify politics," but from the outset it was inevitable that on election day the women voters in the mass would divide about as evenly as the men, yielding to the influences immediately surrounding them. Indeed, it remains true, as was foreseen, that women in the mass vote less intelligently and independently than men in the mass for the simple reason that fewer women than men are interested in the political questions at issue, this being an inevitable consequence of the different habits of life due to the difference between the sexes.

NEW YORKER BUYS "LARKIN'S PLACE"

Parkhurst Property in Woodland Valley, Made Famous by John Burroughs, Contains Noted Trout Haven.

According to announcements made in New York city on Friday, Malcolm Sumner, a well known New York lawyer, has purchased the estate formerly owned by the late Henry L. Parkhurst, in the Woodland Valley, in the town of Shandaken, Ulster county.

The Parkhurst property is better known as "Larkin's Place," and was made famous by John Burroughs in several of his nature stories. During a long period of years Mr. Burroughs was accustomed to visit "Larkin's Place" while on his trapping trips through the southern Catskills, and in recent years in company with Thomas A. Edison and Henry Ford he made "Larkin's Place" the scene of camp during the summer picnics in which the three men indulged.

The tract contains 120 acres, and lies nearly at the head of the Woodland Valley, some distance above Roxmor Inn, which is familiar to all Kingstonians. It is surrounded by the dense forest sweeps of Wittenberg, Cornell, Panther and Slide Mountains. Through the estate runs what is regarded as one of the finest trout streams in the eastern part of the United States.

STATE DAIRYMEN'S ASS'N

Adopts Resolutions and Elects Officers.

Oneonta, Nov. 19.—The New York State Dairymen's Association Friday adopted resolutions urging congress to provide appropriations to carry on the work of eradicating bovine tuberculosis and favoring higher tariffs on farm products. At the closing session of the organization's forty-fifth annual convention, attended by nearly 400 dairymen from all parts of the state, the following officers were elected: President, Dean H. E. Cook of Denmark; vice president, Professor W. A. Stocking, Ithaca; secretary, Thomas E. Tiquis, Albany; assistant secretary, Harry Bauder, Cobleskill; treasurer, R. R. Kirland, Philadelphia, N. Y. The entire board of directors were re-elected.

Albany Avenue Baptist Church.

There will be special services both morning and evening on Sunday at the Albany Avenue Baptist Church. The morning service will be one of thanksgiving, when the pastor, the Rev. Arthur S. Cole, will preach on the topic, "The Thanksgiving Highway." In the evening an address will be given on "Picturesque Japan," illustrated with stereoscopic pictures. These pictures will show not only the missionary work, but also the life of the people, the natural scenery and many other beautiful aspects of the Japanese Empire. The annual roll call meeting of the church will be held on Thursday evening, December 1.

Kerkhousen Makes a Record.

The Kerkhousen M. E. Church held a fair and supper on Thursday evening which was a most enjoyable event and largely attended. The proceeds were $521.26, which amount far exceeds any that most city organizations are able to take in in any one evening.

Burroughs Nature Club Notes

Copyright 1921, by BURROUGHS NATURE CLUB.

What do you want to know about Nature Subjects? Send any questions of general interest to the Nature Notes Dept. of this paper. Look for answers in this column. Can You Answer These Questions?

1. How many eggs do sea gulls lay, and how long does it take for them to hatch?
2. Do male and female fishes have different coats, like birds?
3. How does a spread head and copper head snake look?

Answers in Monday's Nature Notes.

Answers To Previous Questions:

1. How many eggs do pigeons lay and how long does it take for them to hatch?
2 eggs, laid at an interval of two or three days, the mother seeming to know that if the first was incubated immediately, the second would hatch first and get a headstart of its younger companion. The eggs hatch at about 16 to 17 days after the second egg is laid.

2. Do rats give Babcock plague to humans?
Not directly, as disease germs. Bacillus pasteuris, gets from one animal or human to another via a biting insect. The Oriental rat flea is the commonest agent, but others, including the human flea, can carry plague bacilli. Rats might be called reservoirs of plague germs, and serve the agents for distributing the disease.

3. Please tell me what Indian summer is? When? Why so called?

No description of Indian summer exists. Mr. Burroughs's own, in WINTER SUNSHINE, chapter 6. He calls it an equilibrium in climate, when retiring heat and oncoming cold "meet and mingle in friendly commerce on the field." Its season varies a trifle with latitude, but occurs somewhere through October and November. Calling it "Indian summer" is an Americanism, now also adopted in England, but the origin is unknown. Burroughs says, "If the red aborigine ever had his summer of fallow and contentment, it must have been at this season, and it fits him to name."

According to his plans the entire first floor of the building will be made into four stores of equal size facing on Broadway. The two upper floors of the hotel will be turned into flats. Modern improvements will be installed throughout. Mr. Samuels expects to occupy one of the flats, and will rent the other.

This little bit of advice may help you to regain your Health, Strength and Vitality

Thousands of people suffer from nervousness. They are run down and miserable without knowing the reason why.

They do not stop to think that much of their trouble may be caused by drinking tea and coffee which contain the drugs, stimulants and opiates. When you over-stimulate the system for any period of time, the result may be nervousness with its many accompanying ills. You may feel too tired to sleep properly and your sleep does not refresh you as it should.

Postum, made from deliciously roasted cereals, will help you to overcome all these conditions. For it contains fully-baked cereals, instead of drugs, as are found in tea and coffee.

Postum helps build sound nerve structure, by helping you get sound, sound sleep.

In flavor, Postum is much like high-grade coffee. In fact there are many people who prefer Postum for its savory flavor alone.

Order Postum from your grocer today. Serve this rich, fragrant beverage for the family. See how the children will like it, and how much better everybody will sleep at night.

Postum cereals are made from the best quality of whole grain cereals. They are not refined, and they contain no artificial flavors or colors. They are pure and wholesome, and they are easy to digest.

THE WEEK AT THE HIGH SCHOOL

Unable to give the usual Friday morning program because of the Armistice Day observance, the students, instead, entertained Monday.

They were: Blair Muller, who gave an eloquent word picture of Marshal Foch; Miss Beadie Koff, who gave Wolf's "Arm at Grovelotte," a glorious story of the real patriotism of the Frenchman; Miss Anna Sleight, "Young Fellow, My Lad," one of Robert Service's most beautiful war poems; Bernard Fenner, "Tommy," an impressive Kipling poem relating the treatment accorded the average British infantryman; Donald Steinert, "Behind the Guns," another war poem with real thought involved, by Henry Edward Warner.

Basketball practice under Mr. Woodward is still a part of the students' activities, and peering away night after night in the gymnasium are the fellows who, no whit daunted by their failure to make either football squad, are still determined to do something for their school. There is plenty of good material also, and it is a reasonable conjecture that Poughkeepsie or Newburgh will have to step lively if they wish to compete with K. H. S. this winter in basketball.

A prize speaking contest is soon to be held in the high school. The victor of the contest here will journey to Poughkeepsie to speak against the prize orator of that school. Then the winner of this duel is to journey to Columbia College to compete for a prize and the honors awarded by the state to the best speaker. It is no wonder that in debating club circles enthusiasm is prevalent.

The orchestra is beginning to display union in playing. Every Thursday afternoon the twanging of stringed instruments is heard as the future Kriesler's attune them. The students are patiently awaiting the first public appearance of this diligent group in morning assembly.

At the weekly faculty meeting Thursday afternoon the teachers were addressed by Mr. Michael. Clearing from the slate the business which had called him to the meeting, Mr. Michael bade the teaching staff adieu for a while, as he is to repair to the Pacific coast for a vacation. Following Mr. Michael's address, Miss Noone arose and spoke of the high regard in which Mr. Michael is held by all of the faculty, of the countless kind memories and good wishes that would follow him to California.

Miss Noone then presented Mr. Michael with a gift as a messenger of the good wishes of the faculty for a pleasant journey, the full enjoyment of a long-deferred, well-earned vacation, assuring him of a warm welcome awaiting him upon his return to Kingston.

Friday morning another program brightened the chapel exercises and the credit due each speaker is omitted only through necessity. The speakers, Donald Whiston, a commendable recitation of William McKinley's "Grant," Miss Winifred Nash, a humorous rendition of "Knocking on Wood," a poem by Archibald Smith; Henry Maak, a sincere delivery of the Rev. Newell Dwight Billis's "John Ruskin," Miss Ethelwyn Harrington, a humorous recitation of Kipling's "My Rival," Harry Schryver, a pathetic delivery of another man-and-dog story, "The Man," by Harry Goldman.

Something new in the line of football team meetings was given Friday afternoon. While the innovation of having interested members of the faculty speak is not new to the "Sops," yet to the "Fresh" it is, and it must have been as impressive to them as it was to the impetuous Juniors and Seniors, for in a rousing address Miss Walton described the hard licks put in by the football fellows who night after night come straggling in to her to "sign up" at 6 o'clock or after, so that credit for practice may be given them.

Miss Walton declared that in only one case has there been this fall any dispute over scholastic requirements determining the eligibility of a student to play in interscholastic contests and that the unfortunate lad who was below the efficiency standard will never more transgress. Speaking also of the illness of several varsity players Miss Walton described the handicap under which the team would battle its way to victory in the championship fracas this afternoon at East-mas Oval. Miss Walton also urged the moral, as well as the material support by the students of the team, for they are not being asked to support a losing eleven but rather a championship team.

Then Tom Rowland presiding officer, called upon Mr. Lewis who expressed the difficulty of saying anything more, since Miss Walton had so ably covered everything.

However, Mr. Lewis requested that as many as possible be present at the game. While conversing with the principal of P. H. S., that worthy gentleman remarked that before the late Poughkeepsie-Kingston game at the Athletic Field, October 13, there was not a man that was not living in mortal fear of the Maroon attack. As Mr. Lewis concluded his address he expressed his confidence in the local team to another The Poughkeepsian this time.

Mr. Mac Intyre then spoke. Never in his two years' experience of coaching the Kingston varsity football team has an eleven suffered defeat at the hands of Poughkeepsie's men. He said this not as a complacent boast but as a tribute to the spirit with which the team have taken his advice and their own playing prowess.

The score of today's fray will be flashed on the screen at Keweenaw both performances.

Mysterics Concerning Molting Pot.

Certain metals, which melt only at rather high temperatures, may be mixed with each other in certain proportions and will then melt at very low temperatures. That is how some soldiers are made. The melts at 440 degrees Fahrenheit, lead at 640 degrees Fahrenheit, bismuth at 544 degrees Fahrenheit, and cadmium at 608 degrees Fahrenheit. But if you mix eight parts of bismuth with five parts of lead and three parts of tin (by weight), the alloy will melt in boiling water (212 degrees Fahrenheit). If you mix six parts of bismuth, one part of lead, two parts of tin and two parts of cadmium, it will melt in 108 degrees Fahrenheit. And if you want any alloy that will melt at 140 degrees, you have only to mix four parts of tin, eight parts of lead, fifteen parts of bismuth and three parts of cadmium.

Indiscreet Spanish.

The little shoe shop was hot and overcrowded, and the women had to wait in line to be waited on. Just ahead of her a reliable lady was discussing the subject of a suitable footwear and illustrating her lecture by a small, high-heeled shoe she had picked up from the counter. "How long has that been in the shop, actually?" "It was never made for any human foot. No man would dream of wearing it." And she glanced righteously at her own No. 7 common-sense boot. "I'd like to see its owner."

You can make it if you choose.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

THE LOST DOG.

"Of course," said the Collie after he was home at last and was talking with the other dogs, "I don't blame some dogs for getting good and angry when they are treated badly."

"And so much depends on a dog's upbringing. If a dog is treated nicely and kindly, then the dog is gentle and kindly, too, and isn't on the look-out for snappy, cross people, and so doesn't become snappy and cross himself."

"But I think that the nicer a dog can be, the better it is for him."

"The reason, though, that I am able to be pleasant and friendly is because of the nice home I have, and the kind master and mistress, and because I have been brought up in a home where people are happy, and where they laugh and where they don't quarrel."

"Of course, all that makes me pleasant and friendly. I really couldn't be any other way."

"But I want to tell you about the trip I had when I was lost, and because the family are all so kindly with me I was kindly and friendly with other people I met."

"You know I got lost. It was a dreadful experience. I really didn't know what to do. I had gone off for a trip and hadn't realized how far I had gone. And you know I'm very young."

"Of course, I would have found my way home in the long run, I know that."

"But it was everything to be helped, as I was."

"I found myself in another small town where there was a very fashionable inn. An inn is a fashionable boarding house, I believe, and is like a smart hotel, only smaller. Now, in this inn, they didn't allow dogs."

"There were many elderly ladies there, and many of them were funny."

"I came upon this place, and I was so tired. I thought to myself that the people might be friendly, and so I wagged my tail, although they didn't look the friendly sort."

"None of them had spoken to me, or anything like that."

"But when I wagged my tail and looked at some of them politely, they said to each other:

"What a lovely dog."

"I thought that they might help me, and so I wagged my tail again and gave a low, friendly bark, and one of the ladies said:

"That dog must be lost."

"Very gently I walked up near her, so I wouldn't frighten her, and I found that she wasn't frightened."

"Then I put my head in her lap and she patted me. And one of the other women said to her:

"Why, I never saw you put a dog before. How do you know that he won't bite?"

"Of course that was enough to make me furious. As though dogs were all going to bite!"

"But I kept my temper and the lady said:

"Oh, he is a beautiful dog and you can tell he is used to being petted. I am not afraid of him."

"And then the lady called out the one who owned the inn, and she asked to have me fed and a drink of water given to me."

"Then one of the very stylish and superior waiters brought me out a dainty meal and served me so though I was a fine paying guest, and called my meal 'turkish'."

"Then they telephoned about to the neighbors and others, and asked questions about my missing dog that had been reported, and they found out I belonged to my master, and they helped me to come home."

"In fact, I should say they brought me home, and it would have been a hard job by myself."

"But I do think that it makes a great deal of difference if one is friendly."

"Now, I went up to the lady and acted in a friendly fashion and she was friendly with me."

"The next morning seeing quite cross with my master, and my master being so pleasant as can be, and that person with change right around and be pleasant."

"But, oh dogs! It's good to be home!"

"And the dogs wagged their tails and barked."

"Oh Collie, it's good to have you home, for we missed you, sir, we missed you."

FOR THE INVALID.

If a member of the family becomes ill, it is often a problem just what to prepare to tempt the appetite and to reduce the recipe to proportions for one person.

Many times it is possible to prepare enough of any dish for the entire family, but when small amounts are to be served the following suggestions may be of service:

Potato Soup for One.—Scald two-thirds of a cupful of milk to which one-sixth of a slice of onion has been added. Remove the onion after the milk is scalded and pour the milk over a quarter of a cupful of finely cut potato. Melt one-half tablespoonful of butter, stir in one-half spoonful of flour, one salt spoonful of salt, a few grains of celery salt and white pepper. Add to the milk and potato mixture and cook until smooth. Strain and serve very hot, sprinkled with minced parsley. A few drops of tomato catsup adds zest to this soup. Add just before serving.

Cream of Pea Soup.—Take one-third of a cupful of green peas—freshly cooked or canned will do; one-quarter of a cupful of water, one-quarter of a tablespoonful of butter, three-quarters of a tablespoonful of flour, two-thirds of a cupful of milk, one-half spoonful of salt, a few grains of white pepper. Add the water to the peas and simmer ten minutes. Rub through a sieve and thicken with the milk and flour cooked together. Add butter and seasonings. Strain into a hot cup and serve with croquettes of bread.

Beef Balls.—Take a piece of round steak from the top of the round, cut in strips and scrape with the grain of the meat, using a sharp teaspoon. Form the meat into balls, sprinkle with salt and cook in a hot frying pan, shaking them over the heat until well seared. Arrange on buttered toast and garnish with parsley or water cream.

When egg is added to any soup, beat it well, mix with a little of the hot soup, then stir it in, using care that the soup is never overcooked after the egg is added as it curdles and spoils the appearance of the soup.

ON-A-JOB, OFF-A-JOB JIM

Being a Story Of how Jim got on a job and why he got off it again.

Jim left the life saving station the next morning, and at the suggestion of the captain, who had grown fond of him, sought a sea shore farm several miles down the coast, where Jerry Mitchell lived.

"He does a business in sea moss that nets him a fair living. After a stiff north-easter, he's apt to be pretty busy raking in the weeds that are thrown on shore by the sea."

There's a special kind he gets and dries on shore. Used for medicine and puddings. Ever hear of it?"

Jim had, and had also read about the men who had made a good living at picking the stuff and selling it to druggists and grocers.

"You want to remember," the captain added, as he shook hands with Jim, "you mustn't make enemies of the ladies. There are lots of favors they might do you, if you cater to them a bit."

Jim made his apology for having stinked his daughter, and promised to avoid such a mistake in the future. Then he threw his pack on his back, and started on a tramp to the Mitchell's. Hearing the captain's words, he thought some chocolate as he passed through the village, and set him off, approached the sea-moss farm.

A tall young woman was feeding the hens at her door, and she looked at him when he tapped his hat. Jim was good-looking, and when he carried himself to be nice, he was charming. He explained the reason of his call, and asking the young woman what his chances of getting a job were, offered the chocolate with the captain's compliments and his own attractive smile. He was beginning to flutter himself that this young woman would see that he did get a job.

when the wind was straightway taken out of his sails.

"I don't think that Jerry would want you to work here. He really does need a man to help him, but he hates a flirt."

"No. Please don't be offended. I didn't mean that you were. But my husband?"

"Your husband?" Jim interrupted. "You mean—?"

"I am Mrs. Jerry. My husband is so jealous and prone to believe that every one who looks at me is flirting that—" she began to laugh softly, "you ought to see the old fossils who work here."

"Got an old wig or grey moustache I could do?"

"Oh no. If you were to disguise yourself, and then be found out, he'd smell a conspiracy against him right off."

"I'll tell him that I'm a woman-hater. Where is he?"

"Oh, must you go so soon?"

"I ought to, to settle the matter. Suppose he saw us here together?"

"You'd only be sent flying. Do stay. I want to talk with you."

"See here," Jim was between two fires. He didn't wish to offend her, but he did want the job mightily bad. "If we continue to chat here, I am running the chance of being kicked out and that would be the end of our acquaintance. If I go to your husband now and tell him how much I abhor the very name of women—"

"There's Jerry now!"

"Female," bellowed Jim, in return, shaking his fist near her face. "I came here to see the man of the house. I haven't any use for women. I want a job-taking over the sea moss and packing it. I haven't any time to waste gadding with women. Where is the boss?"

bluffing that he had not seen the approaching farmer.

Jerry Mitchell immediately introduced himself—and Jim got the job.

WOMAN, THE HOME BUILDER

One Minute Essay on Health By Froude & MacKinnon, D's. C.

Woman is the mistress of ideals and sentiment. On her depends the upbuilding of the soul qualities of the race. She cannot afford to let anything dull her health, her sensibilities or her refinement.

In the average run of the day's work in a home, the spine is subjected to many strains and jars and frequent spinal adjustments are a necessity if it is to be kept in healthful condition. They keep the bowels active, the kidneys functioning and the skin clear.

Chiropractic spinal adjustments remove the cause of diseases of the head, throat, lungs, heart, stomach, liver, kidneys and intestinal organs.

HEALTH FOLLOWS

CHIROPRACTIC CORRECTS PRESSURE ON SPINAL NERVES IN DISEASES OF THE FOLLOWING ORGANS:

HEAD, EYES, EARS, NOSE, THROAT, ARMS, HEART, LUNGS, LIVER, STOMACH, PANCREAS, SPLEEN, KIDNEYS, BOWELS, APPENDIX, BLADDER, SPINAL CORD, LOWER LIMBS.

THE LOWER NERVE UNDER THE HANDBY-ING GLASS IS PICKED BY A FINGERLINED JOINT.

PINCHED NERVES CAUSE TRANSCIENT HEALTHFUL IMPULSES, CHIROPRACTIC ADJUSTING REMOVES THE PRESSURE. THE UPPER NERVE IS FREED AS NATURE INTENDS.

WHEN HEALTH BEGINS

When health begins depends on when you telephone 776 for an appointment. Consultation is without charge. Our invariable rule is never to accept a case that we are not confident we can benefit.

MARY AND DOUG BUSY ABROAD

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, Nov. 19.—When Mary Pinkford met the Duke of York here it was the first time that she had seen many of the British royalty, and both were obviously delighted.

The meeting occurred at the Charity Ball, given by the Duchesses of Sutherland, at which all the most prominent society people were present.

Mary thinks that Prince Albert is a "dear." The prince was too happy to say much about the meeting.

The Fairbankses, who arrived in London in an airplane from Paris have leased the historic Crown Grand Opera House for twelve weeks for the "Three Musketeers."

Mary is busy searching for an ivy covered cottage in Essex for the stay in England.

"I am tired of cities and hotels," she explained.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Nov. 19.—The stock market was very quiet at the opening today, dealings being on a small scale, with irregular fraction changes. United Fruit was a strong exception, advancing 2 points to 170; and American Sumatra Tobacco was a weak feature falling 1 point to 2. United States Steel started ¼ higher at 82½ and then lost this gain while Bethlehem Steel "B" was 1 point lower at 54½. Marine Petroleum showed a loss of 1½ at 57½ Mexican Petroleum was ½ higher at 113½. Chesapeake and Ohio showed a gain of ¼ at 53½.

The market closed irregular; government bonds unchanged; railroads and other bonds steady.

Officers Were Elected at Annual Meeting and Rally of Kingdom Local Union of Christian Endeavor Friday Evening.

John Haulenbeck was elected president of the Kingdom Local Union of Christian Endeavor at the annual rally held Friday evening in the Werts Street Baptist Church. The other officers elected were: First vice-president, the Rev. Lawrence French, of Harley; second vice-president, Robert Southwick, recording secretary, Miss Edna Martin; corresponding secretary, Miss Ethel Nelson; treasurer, Frank Edmundson; and general adviser, the Rev. Leonard Asplund.

The rally for the largest attendance of delegates was awarded to the society of the Port Bowen Reformed Church.

The retiring secretary, Miss Ruth Fredenburgh, gave a most interesting report of the work of the union during the year, which showed that considerable good work had been accomplished.

Lester E. Becker, the retiring president, who had served the union for the past year, has given one of the most efficient presidencies the union ever had, and was also assisted in carrying out his plan by the officers under him.

The address of the evening was delivered by the Rev. Leonard Asplund, of Seattle, who gave a most interesting and forceful speaker and delivered a message well worth hearing.

The singing during the evening was capably led by the Rev. R. P. Ingersoll, pastor of the entertaining church.

BROOKLYN HIGH HAS GOOD RECORD

Captain Louis S. Campbell, former Kingston High School athlete, with his Brooklyn Evening High School stars, will be seen in action at the Athletic Field Thanksgiving afternoon, struggling with the Kingston High School squad of football players.

The Brooklyn team have won seven games and lost one, scoring one hundred and fifty points to their opponents fifty-one, and have not been scored on by a high school team. Dula, a colored boy, playing halfback last season, is also playing this year. He is an all scholastic player. In last season's game with the local squad Dula starred all through the contest and attracted a considerable amount of attention from the local fans.

The Kingston High School team have rounded into shape during the last few weeks and Kingston fans will witness one of the best football contests on their home field in some time.
